The Court orders that the motion to remand, pursuant to MCR 7.211(C)(1), is DENIED. While defendant-appellant argues that his trial counsel was ineffective for not challenging his arrest because it was based only on outstanding traffic warrants, the records defendant-appellant has produced appear to show that the police relied on probable cause related to this offense to arrest him. Defendant-appellant therefore does not appear to have factual grounds to support his claim. Defendant-appellant also has not shown that he was prejudiced as a result of any delay in his arraignment.
