The Court orders that the motion to dismiss this appeal is DENIED because defendant has not established that this appeal is moot. Particularly, the holding in People v Richmond, 486 Mich 29, 35-38; 782 NW2d 187 (2010), is inapplicable because it is premised on the prosecution in that case having brought a motion to dismiss and then attempting to appeal the ensuing order of dismissal obtained by its own motion, while in the present case the order appealed from granted defendant's motion to dismiss.
