Judges

On the Court's own motion, the March 21, 2014 order is VACATED because it has come to the Court's attention that the delayed application for leave to appeal was not served on the Attorney General's Office which acted as the prosecution in this case.

The Court further ORDERS defendant-appellant to serve a copy of the delayed application for leave to appeal on the Attorney General's Office within seven days of the date of the Clerk's certification of this order. The Attorney General's Office shall be allowed 21 days from the date of service to file an answer to the delayed application. See MCR 7.205(C). The Clerk's Office is directed to submit the delayed application for consideration by another regular motion docket panel following the filing of the answer or the expiration of the time for filing an answer if an answer is not timely filed.
